

*I can program a device and wait for something to happen.

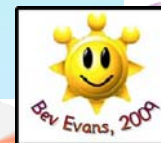

*I can put a loop into my program, so that commands are repeated for as long as I like.

*I can program a device so that it is controlled by a sensor.

*I can create and program a model with devices and sensors.

